“ Superman flies once again. Thank God for his life and the expressions of love that were made on his behalf. To have such an impact on so many, he was clearly a superman in a boy's body. May this realization bring peace to all who loved him.

“ My thoughts are with all of the Fasslers. I have always admired what a close and loving family you are. It is so sad to lose a little one - Colton had a beautiful smile. It is a comfort to know that he will be sharing that grin and a hug with his mom. I hope that through the strength and love of family and God, some peace and understanding can come from his death.
