“ Words are very difficult to come by at these times of grief. Gerald, I did not know you very well but i am sure you will be missed by all of us in the family and especially those closest to you and by those who knew you best. It is most difficult for your parents who hold you very dear to their heart. You were so young and all of our hearts break when a young family member is lost. Blessings and love to my cousins and your parents during this very difficult time. jane hammes and family
