“ After moving to Amboy June of 2000, it was not long before my family and Ron's bonded. Our kids were of the same age and same sporting interest. We meet at a Junior Tackle Football Practice and shared laughter while our boys were being out tackled by a fellow female player. During these practices and much conversation, it became clear then and more so since that family was Ron's priorities. As time went on, I was able to see Ron's concrete talents around Amboy and surrounding communities. At some point, I asked Ron to assist me and family with my home driveway project which he proudly accepted. The boys were proud to supervise their dad as he appreciated their presence and youthful laughter. A couple of memories that I will never forget: 1- Ron making play and humor of the intense job hoping to teach our boys that sweat equity was good. 2- Tristen walking around with a concrete trowel in his back pocket and similar walk that Ron had. We all laughed endlessly during Tristen's proud moments. So funny to witness a young stud wanting to be like his father and strutting his pride and accomplishments of helping us that day. There is no doubt that heaven gained a wonderful man that now flies high with his parents while watching over family and loved ones. Only a few knew Ron and my greeting of each other: Big Dog and Little Dog. LOL. Well big dog, you taught your kids and friends well. As for me, you taught me to view life with humor. Love you like a brother.
